

Username

We may want to Pivot the New story and Branch Buttons to appear horizontally on top

Directs user to Edit Page to create a new story.

Shows user all requests to add branches to their stories. Ideally this will open up a side ways drop down (don't know the exact term) that will show all requests. Clicking on the request will open up a separate window within the screen that the user can accept. I can build a wire frame for this, it might be easiest to discuss this in person first.

Shows user all comments they have made on other stories, we can hold on this for now.

Stories

Master Detail of all stories. Whenever a new story is added, it appears here. Eventually it would be good for it to contain more information, with a layout similar to the main page's story list, with Descriptions, Genres and Date Created, etc. Perhaps it might even be easier because we could copy a lot of the Main Page code for that.

(Master Detail of All of Users Stories)

Story 1
Story 2
Story 3
Story 4

(include all stories)

Clicking on a story Directs to the Edit Page with all the text of that Story saved (excluding any branches from other users).

We will need a way to edit this info, maybe we can do it in the edit page

Branches

Similar to above, Master Detail of all user's branches. Whenever a new branch is added, it appears here. Like above, eventually it would be good for it to contain more information, except it would also include which story the Branch belongs to.

(Master Detail of All of Users Branches)

Branch 1
Branch 2
Branch 3
Branch 4

(include all branches)

Clicking on a Branch Directs to the Edit Page with all the text of that Branch saved (excluding any branches or story text from other users).

Account Info

Directs to a page with basic account and security info, have not built a wire frame for this yet.